FROM THE EAST

I am continually impressed by the caliber of Masons in our lodge. While our officers deserve recognition for their leadership and dedication, I'd like to take a moment to highlight a few brothers whose efforts often happen quietly, but make an enormous difference.

Brother George Nassaney is one of the most dependable and genuinely kind men you will ever meet. Time and again, his selfless dedication has elevated our lodge events. From food preparation to cleanup, last-minute market runs to greeting guests, George embodies the spirit of service. At the Chili Cookoff, for example, he prepared potato salad and baked beans, cut and served the meats, checked in guests, and even managed donations—all while helping with setup. At our last Pub Night, he made a quick run for ice to keep the evening going smoothly. George, your hard work and commitment do not go unnoticed. You are an invaluable part of this lodge, and we are all grateful for you.

I also want to recognize Brother Cleveland Palmer, chair of our Symposium lecture series. As a member of the Southern California Research Lodge, Cleveland has brought in top-tier speakers who challenge and inspire us. Our last Symposium featured Worshipful Jonathan Dru Wood, who explored the fascinating parallels between Masonry and Arthurian legend. Coming up on September 17, Brother Dago Rodriguez will present "Fight Club and Freemasonry". Cleveland, your efforts have made this program a true highlight of our lodge calendar.

There are many more brothers whose contributions deserve recognition, and I hope to spotlight them in future issues of the Trestleboard. In the meantime, I encourage everyone to join me in thanking George and Cleveland for the energy, creativity, and brotherhood they bring to our lodge.

Fraternally,

Andrew Perry, P.M.
Worshipful Master

JESSE OWENS

(EXTRACTED FROM FRATERNAL REVIEW, JUNE 2024)

Most of us are aware that, during the 1936 Summer Olympics in Berlin, Germany, Jesse Owens won four gold medals: 100 Meters, Long Jump, 200 meters, and the 4x100-meter Relay, resulting in his being regarded as the most successful athlete at the Olympic Games and, as an African-American man, is credited with single-handedly crushing Hitler’s myth of Aryan supremacy.

However, despite the Great Architect of the Universe providing observable clues to the irreducible fact that there is only one race—that of the Human Race, with its many shades, cultures, norms, and values—the erroneous notion of inferiority as it relates to people of African descent persists; much to the contrary as it relates to Masonic Ritual itself.

Recognizing that Masonic Ritual makes no mention of a Candidate’s skin color, it is nonetheless obvious from history, surviving documents, and the founding of Prince Hall Freemasonry by Prince Hall in September 1784, that some early Freemasons within predominantly white lodges sought to maintain the arbitrary line of demarcation between the two groups of men and their respective peoples.

While not initiated into the Craft until later in life, within Mount Zion Lodge No. 88 in Cleveland, Ohio, in 1974, we can see that Brother Owens was an exemplar of virtue for decades before his initiation. As evidenced by the life and accomplishments of Brother Owens, we are compelled to live the highest and best of that which Nature has endowed us; and we labor against false narratives that seek to elevate one socio-cultural group over another.

Jesse Owens’ performance at the 1936 Olympics and his destruction of the argument that served as the ideological basis for the Nazi’s claims of Aryan superiority, provide an opportunity for us all to achieve those altruistic sentiments of heart and mind. However, not everyone took advantage of this opportunity. President Franklin D. Roosevelt, himself a Freemason, presumably due the tenor of the time, was among those opting not to acknowledge Owens’ accomplishments. According to Owens, “[The] Führer didn’t snub me—it was our President who snubbed me. The President didn’t even send me a telegram.”
