MASONIC LODGE # 332 F. & A.M.

WWW.SANPEDROMASONS.ORG

MAY - JUNE 2025

FROM THE EAST

Brethren, as the Masonic year continues ensuing, I thought I'd reflect on what has happened the past few months and how it may portend to the future.

Our lodge has a strong group of dedicated members, and we each are dealing with whatever it is that life is throwing our way. Without disclosing too much, some of you have had medical emergencies, others have had deaths in the family, and still others are exploring new career opportunities. A few are enjoying international cruises (ahem, Mr. Secretary), and still others are celebrating weddings and graduations. Others are moving to strange and exotic places like Wichita, Kansas; and others have come to the Peninsula from other jurisdictions like Arizona.

And yet, through all this there's a core of us who are making Masonry happen in San Pedro. We're running business meetings, holding degrees, advancing in both station and degrees, and making the lodge function for its members. It's a sight to behold. I encourage those of you who haven't stopped by in a while, to please visit and behold what your brothers have done. And while you're here, don't forget to say hello to old friends and seize the opportunity to make new ones.

That is the portent for our lodge, brothers and sisters: whatever weird curve balls life throws at us, we have a place to fall back to, a 'rally point' if you will. Embrace it.

Fraternally,

Andrew Perry, P.M.
Worshipful Master

THE ORIGINS OF FREEMASONRY

(EXTRACTED FROM GRAND LODGE OF ENGLAND WEBSITE)

The roots of modern Freemasonry are the subject of intense speculation, but the general consensus among Masonic scholars is that they lie with the medieval stonemasons that built our castles and cathedrals. Early Freemasons were influenced by the legends, imagery and customs of medieval stonemasons. Elias Ashmole wrote about his initiation in a Lodge in Warrington UK in 1646, the first recorded evidence of the initiation of an English speculative mason – notwithstanding the fact that those present and listed would have certainly been initiated at an earlier date.

On St John's Day, 24 June 1717, four London Lodges, which had existed for some time, came together at the Goose and Gridiron Tavern in St Paul's Churchyard, declared themselves a Grand Lodge and elected Anthony Sayer as their first Grand Master. This was the founding of the Premier Grand Lodge, the first of its kind anywhere in the world and the origins of the United Grand Lodge of England. By 1723, the new Grand Lodge had published its first rulebook, The Constitutions of the Free-Masons, and was meeting quarterly and recording its meetings. Its enlightenment principles provided the philosophical foundations of modern Freemasonry.

In 1751, London, Scottish, and Irish Freemasons formed a rival Grand Lodge in London with different practices, labelling the original Grand Lodge 'Moderns' and calling themselves 'Antients'. The two rivals existed side by side – both at home and abroad – for nearly 63 years, neither recognizing the other as regular. In 1813, the two Grand Lodges in England united to form the United Grand Lodge of England. This union led to a great deal of standardization of ritual, procedures and regalia.

Operating under the core values of Brotherly Love, Relief and Truth – now expressed in the guiding principles of Integrity, Respect, Friendship and Service – English Freemasonry attracted people from all walks of life and spread around the globe. In the times before a welfare state, it created charities to look after the wellbeing of members and their families, but over time it has evolved into a major supporter of charities and causes beyond Freemasonry throughout local communities around the world.
